To who it may concerns,

I think the settlement is very reasonable. consumers will benefit more from the new Microsoft while competition and freedom of inovation are kept.

I only want to give a example for this:

A simple network card sells for $30 for Windows-based PC while the same network card is priced at more than $300 for SUN Microsystem's least expensive desktop computer.

The scale of difference is unbalance. consumers need Microsoft and its ability to compete.

Thnaks for consideration!
